Description:

This course is the first of two courses (ECON 357 is the second) designed to cover the basics of microeconomics. We will study the behaviour of consumers and firms, and analyze the equilibria that occur when the two groups interact.

.../2

You will have seen many of the ideas before in your introductory economics courses. However, the treatment here will be more technical. Calculus is not required for this course and will not be used, but high school level algebra will be used extensively. In particular, you must be able to solve a system of two equations and two unknowns.

Microeconomic theory is very important to the study of all economics and you will acquire tools in this course you will use throughout your career in economics. I have a responsibility to you, and to the Department of Economics, to ensure that you understand the basics thoroughly. As a result, it is my expectation that by the end of the course, all students can solve for a consumer's demand function or draw a competitive firm's supply curve. Those who cannot demonstrate these abilities by the end of the course should not expect to pass.

Course Outline:

The course will follow the textbook. However, some material may be added or removed based on time constraints.

Chapter 1	Analyzing Economic Problems
Chapter 2	Demand and Supply Analysis
Chapter 3	Consumer Preferences and the Concept of Utility
Chapter 4	Consumer Choice
Chapter 5	The Theory of Demand
Chapter 6	Inputs and Production Functions
Chapter 7	Costs and Cost Minimization
Chapter 8	Cost Curves
Chapter 9	Perfectly Competitive Markets
Chapter 10	Competitive Markets: Applications

Grade Determination and Final Examination Details:

Midterm	Date TBD	30%	1.5 hours
Final	Scheduled by the Registrar (June 27-30)	50%	2 hours
Assignments		4 x 5% = 20%

The aim of the course is to develop your ability to solve problems. As such, the midterm and final will consist mainly of problems. You will not be expected to memorize definitions. However, you will need to demonstrate an understanding of the definitions covered in lecture.

You will have at least one week to complete each of the four assignments. While collaboration is encouraged, you must write up and submit your own answers. I take a dim view of large groups of students handing in identical assignments.

Assignments and exams will be marked on a numerical (percentage) basis. At the conclusion of the course, a final mark will be calculated using the weights above. This final mark will be converted to a letter grade. These letter grade equivalences will generally apply:

A+	96-100	B	76-79	C-	60-63
A	90-95	B-	72-75	D+	55-59
A-	84-89	C+	68-71	D	50-54
B+	80-83	C	64-67	F	0-49

A passing grade on any particular component of the course is NOT required for a student to pass the course as a whole.

Non-programmable calculators WILL be allowed during the writing of the midterm and final examinations.

There will be a Registrar scheduled final examination, lasting 2 hours.

Tests and exams WILL NOT involve multiple choice questions.

Notes:

- Students seeking a grade reappraisal should discuss their work with the Instructor within seven days of the work being returned to the class.
- Students who are unable to write the midterm because of a documented illness, family emergency or religious observance will have the midterm weight shifted to the final. A make-up midterm will not be given.

- It is the student's responsibility to request academic accommodations. If you are a student with a documented disability who may require academic accommodation and have not registered with the Disability Resource Centre, please contact their office at 403-220-8237. Students who have not registered with the Disability Resource Centre are not eligible for formal academic accommodation. You are also required to discuss your needs with your instructor no later than fourteen days after the start of this course.
