Course Description: This is the honour's level course and the final part of the macroeconomic theory sequence of your undergraduate degree. Building on the introduction to modern macroeconomics covered in Econ 359, we study the basic structure of dynamic general equilibrium theory and some advanced topics in macroeconomics. The materials in this course will be useful in other applied fields, such as development, environment, labour, and trade, and provide a strong background for your further graduate study.

Course Objectives/Learning Outcomes: Developing critical thinking about economic issues through modern macroeconomic theory, based on dynamic general equilibrium theory. Students will learn how to develop a consistent argument and make informed criticism about economic debates they see in news media.

Prerequisites/Corequisites: Econ 357, 359, and 389. As these courses already have a calculus prerequisite and cover the basic optimization theory, we use the calculus compatible notation and the standard constraint optimization techniques throughout the course.

Textbook: There is no textbook for this course. The following non-technical review of the modern macroeconomic theory will be helpful. Additional reading is suggested and posted on the D2L throughout the course.

- Athreya, K.B. 2015. Big Ideas in Macroeconomics. MIT (Recommended Reading)

Important Dates:

- February 10 (Fri) Midterm 1
- February 20, 22, 24 Reading week (No lectures)
- March 17 (Fri) Midterm 2

Desire2Learn: This course will make use of the Desire2Learn (D2L) platform. Please note that D2L features a class e-mail list that may be used to distribute course-related information. D2L sends e-mail only to your University of Calgary address.

E-mail Policy: To avoid confusion that is often created by email messages, I will not respond to any question sent by email regarding the course materials. Please come to the office hours for those questions.

TA: TA will hold one-hour office hour each week and occasional TA sessions. TA sessions are not required components of the course, but indispensable components nonetheless. TA will cover answer keys to the problem sets and introduce some additional useful materials. As my E-mail policy implies, TA will not respond to your email communication regarding the course materials. In addition, TA is not responsible for your question outside of the office hours and TA sessions. You are advised to refrain from asking the TA regarding the course materials outside of designated occasions.

Grade Determination and Final Examination Details: Student performance will be evaluated through a collection of problem sets (worth 10%), two midterms (30% each), and final exam (30%). Late work will not be accepted, and there will be no make-up or deferred midterm exams. The course grade is calculated using the weights indicated above and then converted to letter grades as follows.

A+	Outstanding
A	Excellent – superior performance showing comprehensive understanding of the subject matter
B	Good – clearly above average performance with knowledge of subject matter generally complete
C	Satisfactory – basic understanding of the subject matter
D	Minimum pass – marginal performance
F	Fail

- To indicate the student progress throughout the semester, a letter grade that corresponds to the above table is provided to each component of your work (problem sets and midterms).
- A passing grade on any particular component of the course is not required for a student to pass the course as a whole.
- Non-programmable calculators will not be allowed during the writing of tests or final examinations.
- There will be a department scheduled final examination, lasting 2 hours.
- Tests and exams will not involve multiple-choice questions.

The reappraisal of term work may cause the grade to be raised, lowered, or to remain the same. If the student is not satisfied with the decision and wishes to appeal, the student shall address a letter of appeal to the Dean of the faculty offering the course within 15 days of the unfavourable decision. In the letter, the student must clearly and fully state the decision being appealed, the grounds for appeal, and the remedies being sought, along with any special circumstances that warrant an appeal of the reappraisal.
